

35th Annual Ethnography in Education Research Forum
The Ethnographic Imagination:
Arts, Multimodality, and Pedagogies of the Possible
February 28 - March 1, 2014

In addition to this year's plenary talks and in honor of the theme of the 35th Annual Ethnography in Education Research Forum, we have planned several special events featuring arts and media in education.

Photography Exhibition: Je Suis Que Je Suis / Meet the Other Side of Me

What: A collaborative photography project between Newcomer, French-speaking students in France and New York City facilitated by Forum plenary speaker, Christine Hélot, and photographer, Emily Schiffer.

Where: Graduate School of Education, First Floor

When: Available for viewing from January through March

Arts and Media in Education Fair

What: This interactive fair will showcase the rich and varied arts and media education organizations in the Philadelphia region. Bring your lunch to the fair, and coffee and dessert will be provided.

Where: Amado Recital Hall, Irvine Auditorium

When: Friday, February 28, 1:00-4:00 pm
(Due to limited space, attendees must sign-up to attend the fair. Sign-up will be available the week of February 10 for registered conference attendees.)

Collaborative Silk-Screen Exhibition: I am the Author of My Own Story

What: A collaborative silk-screen project created by 9th grade Technical College High School students from Phoenixville, PA and facilitated by educator and Penn GSE doctoral student, Debora Broderick, and local arts organization, The Fabric Workshop & Museum.

Where: Houston Hall of Flags

When: Friday, February 28 at 6:00pm
(Immediately preceding the evening plenary talk)
