

THE DELAWARE VALLEY MINORITY STUDENT ACHIEVEMENT CONSORTIUM

2009-10

The Delaware Valley Minority Student Achievement Consortium (DVMSAC) is a collaborative network of twenty-eight regional school districts and four county intermediate units in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware, that for the past six years have committed to work together to support, encourage and acknowledge the success of their students of color. The Consortium serves as a resource for taking systemic, district-wide and pro-active leadership responsibility for significantly improving the academic performance of all students, and at the same time eliminating the observed achievement disparities among racial/ethnic subgroups.
