

Philadelphia Writing Project
Graduate School of Education · University of Pennsylvania

Join 21 other teacher leaders.

Continue the Legacy.

2008-2009 PhilWP Scholar

Every year since PhilWP was founded at the Graduate School of Education, University of Pennsylvania, a Philadelphia school teacher has taken a leave of absence for professional development or a sabbatical from their classroom in order to enroll as a full-time graduate student at Penn—most often in a doctoral program (Ed.D).

Interested???

Contact PhilWP now
Vanessa Brown 215-898-5681 or
philwp@gse.upenn.edu

For grad program info
www.upenn.edu/GSE

For info on Leave of Absence for Professional Dev.
School District of Phila.
www.philsch.k12.pa.us/offices/administration/policies/312.html

Annette Sample, recently retired from teaching English at George Washington Carver High School for Engineering and Science, is currently serving as our 21st PhilWP Scholar. She provides leadership to all of PhilWP's programs and general operations for 20 hours a week while enrolled in classes in the Reading, Writing and Literacy Division. Her tuition for all classes is paid in full by the university as part of its commitment to urban education and the work of the Philadelphia Writing Project. She covers academic fees and book costs for the year.

We are currently seeking applicants. This is an excellent opportunity to pursue your academic goals at a world renowned university and to provide valuable leadership to the multi-faceted and exciting local and national work of PhilWP.