

The Philadelphia Writing Project is pleased to partner with the Urban Affairs Coalition in a day of sharing, collaboration, and celebration in the digital age.

Saturday, October 25, 2014

University of Pennsylvania, Graduate School of Education

3700 Walnut St., Philadelphia, PA

8:00 a.m. – 5:00 p.m.

Some of the day's sessions and workshops include:

"Remember the book that made you an activist?: Creating Novel Units for Social Justice Teaching"

"Teaching Argumentative Writing to Middle and High School Students"

"Engaging Students in Kamishibai Performance: An Emerging New Literacy"

"Mashed Media Guide: A toolkit for incorporating Youth Media in the classroom"

"Digital Storytellers in the K-2 Classroom"

"Utilizing Mentor Texts to write Informational Pieces in the K-2 classroom"

"Creative Place Making for Multi-literacies- Promoting Refugee Teen's Artistic Expression, Storytelling and Community-Building"

"Going from Screens to Windows: Technology as part of a Real-World Philadelphia Curriculum"

Many sessions are technology-based. Participants are encouraged to bring their mobile devices.

The day will begin with opening remarks and a plenary session after lunch in Huntsman Hall, 3730 Walnut St. A reception will follow at the end of the day.

For more information and online registration go to:

<http://www.gse.upenn.edu/philwp>

*This is a free event.
Coffee and lunch will be provided.*